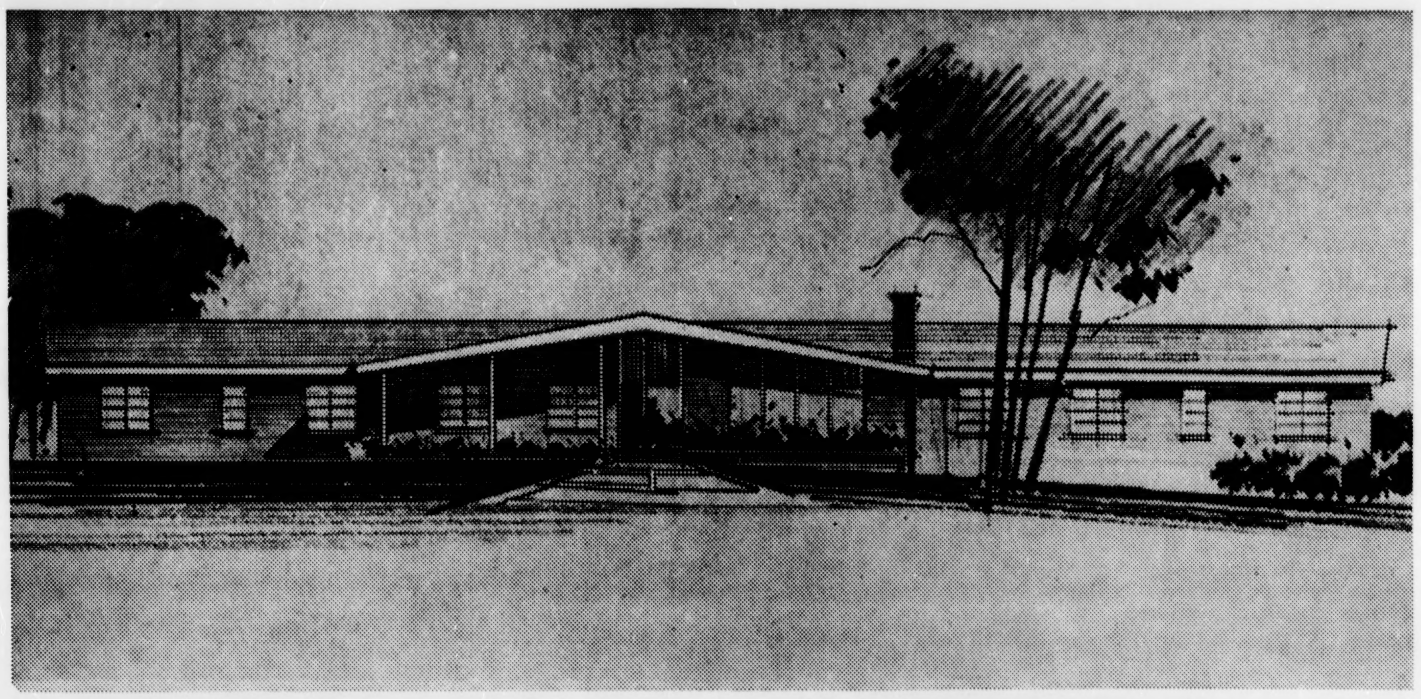
VOL. 38 BARIUM SPRINGS, N. C., MARCH 1961 No. 3



NEW BARIUM COTTAGE—This architectural sketch shows the front portion of Howard Cottage at Barium Springs which is now under construction. The cottage will accommodate 16 students and a house mother. It will have a living room, dining room, and kitchen, in addition to student rooms. It is expected to be completed by August.

Boys Share Conference Title And Seeded First In Tournament

The hectic season of basketball has come to a close and the tournaments have rounded out the three and a half months of basketball practice and playing. The Troutman boys team on which the Barium children participate ended the season in a three way tie for first place, and in the tournament pairings were ruled the No. 1 spot. The girls in their up and down season ended in the lower half of the conference standing, but, still made the tournament for the first round in which they were eliminated by a strong Monroe girls team.

West Rowan's Falcons knocked the top-ranked Bobcats out of the running in a 46-45 tussle and North Rowan's Cavaliers downed Davie County, 56-50.

Troutman, which finished in a three-way tie with East Rowan and Monroe for the boys division title, beat West Rowan twice during regular season but couldn't fight off the determined Falcons.

A man-to-man defense, with West star Gary McNeely hanging on tight to Troutman center Danny Loftin, could be termed as a decisive factor. McNeely held Loftin to only two field goals in the first half and both were late in the second period. Loftin, who was able to hit only four of 20 attempts from the floor, had just seven points in the first half and grabbed five more in the second half for 12, with Loy Sigmon handling the defensive assignment in the second half as McNeely picked up three personals.

Jim McAbee, hitting on seven of 17 field goals and four of four foul shots, led Troutman's efforts with 18 points.

McNeely, sinking eight of 13 field goals and three of five foul shots, hit 19 for West Rowan, with Bill Scroggins following with 15 and Loy Sigmon picking up 10.

Troutman wound up with 30 per cent from the floor, sinking 15 of 50 field goals and added 15 of 22 foul shots. West Rowan had 39.1 per cent on 18 of 46 attempts from the field and 10 of 19 foul shots.

Troutman had two shots at the basket in the final 10 seconds but missed on both attempts in an effort to pull out the victory.

The Bobcats rolled into a 6-0 lead on back-to-back goals by McAbee and Chris Smith, but West Rowan rallied for a 7-7 deadlock with a minute left. McAbee's goal and a long shot from past midcourt by Chris Smith with one second showing gave Troutman an 11-7 edge.

Smith pushed it to 13-7 at the outset of the second period. With 6:30 left, McAbee suffered a sprained ankle and had to have it taped, missing some three minutes of action. West surged back to a 14-14 tie and it was deadlocked four times until the final minute of the half. McNeely's foul shot and a field goal with 24 seconds left gave West Rowan a 23-20 lead and Loftin's goal with 13 seconds showing cut it back to 23-22 at half-time.

West moved into a 25-22 lead at the start of the third period, but Troutman came back on goals by McAbee and Loftin and a foul shot by Smith for a 27-25 lead. Sigmon's goal tied it at 27-27 with 3:51 left. West moved out to a 36-30 margin as Scroggins and Sigmon led the way, with Troutman slicing it back to 36-35 in the final 20 seconds. McAbee's goal, a foul shot by Smith and two charity tosses by Wayne Rogers cut it down.

Roger, Loftin and McAbee hit goals for a 41-36 Troutman lead

Twelve Months Of Band Music

"Are you coming to the concert?" said the Barium member of the High School Band. This brought to mind the fact that one year ago we were busy in securing instruments and students for a beginner's band at Barium Springs. Through the vigilance of the students and the diligence of the conductor, Mr. Paul Owensby, about three dozen boys and girls have learned to play the various instruments of the band and have been a valuable part of the regular school band at Troutman.

All those who have been enjoying the individual squeaks of clarinets, whistles of flutes, toots of horns, thumps of the bass drums and the rattle of the kettledrums, etc. during the hours of practice will eagerly anticipate the concert with the blending of the notes in harmony and rhythm. In a sense, it's akin to all of life. The ups and downs of the days in the period of practice, the working together seem to take a sense of purpose and glow in the moments of accomplishment that become a part of life as they move along in growth and progress. Thus, a word of appreciation to all who shared in making the band possible and to the conductor, whose patience has brought forth the talents of the students.

Alumni News

Jim Bunnell and Donald Frazier were on the Deans list at Presbyterian Junior College this past term.

Jake Beattie from Charlotte was a visitor on the campus.

Joyce Ferrell Burris and her husband, Wade, and two children came for Church service and had dinner in the dining room. Joyce and Wade are Counselors for the Pioneers at West Avenue Presbyterian Church in Charlotte.

Mary Parks, Allen Helms and two daughters, Peggy and Linda, spent an afternoon on the campus.

Robert and Marie (Smith) Mills attended the ball game at Barium when Troutman played North. Two of their sons, Gurney and Jerry were on the team and one of their daughters is Manager of the Girl's team.

Charlie Sears also attended the game and his daughter, Ellen came. Dannie is also on the North Rowan team.

At a recent R. S. Central High School football banquet, Marley Sigmon, assistant football coach presented the coveted athletic Memorial award.

A Kite For Every Tree

Two boys were making their way hurriedly across the campus to the carpenter shop. The speed with which they moved indicated that they were on important business. Soon they returned to the front of the campus with a ladder which they leaned up against a tree and the rescue operation set in. Some sixty feet from the ground and in the outer reaches of the white oak limb was dangling the kite which had been so carefully made and hoisted into the air. It was a thing of beauty until it took a nose dive and made its way into the top of the white oak tree. For quite some time these two climbed, shook, stretched and strained but to no avail. Their kite still hung firmly to the white oak limb by the cord that had tied it to earth and by the tail that had made it fly.

This same situation was duplicated on the other side of the campus the next day. A little fellow sitting at the foot of the tree taking off his heavy shoes, said, "I have got to get that thing down from up there," and sure enough there was in the top of that tree his kite which had gotten loose and had fallen in the entanglement of the red oak. From the daily activities during the windy month, it would seem that somebody had said to nearly every boy on the campus, "go fly a kite."

Mac McClure spent the week-end at Barium. Mack is a Senior at Davidson College.

Mamie Lloyd of Raleigh spent the day at Barium recently.

Dickie McKenzie, student at Pfeiffer College, Graham Blake and Jim Kiser, students at Lees-McRae were visitors on the campus recently.

The engagement of Mary Emma McClure to Frank Garcia has been announced, the wedding to take place June 29th. Mary Emma is teaching in Jacksonville, Fla. and Frank is a student at Princeton Theological Seminary.

HOMECOMING

Mark Your Calendar Now For AUGUST 13, The Second Sunday, For Homecoming At Barium Springs.

UNDER THE STEEPLE

By Rev. Hugh B. Carter, Jr.

Every now and then our congregation reads in unison Psalm 130 printed in the Scripture readings at the end of The Hymnbook. The Psalm is the cry of a man whose life has been broken by sin, and whose heart has been broken by the mercy of the forgiving God who will still give ear to the penitent's cry. This pleading "out of the depths" is the prayer of every man who wants to be made whole by the Savior.

"Out of the depths I cry to thee, O Lord!" The cry comes from the depts of depression and distress. It comes from the darkness which sin casts over a man's soul. It comes from a sinner who has nothing to his credit but his hope in a Savior: "O Lord, hear my voice!"

Who but God can hear the anguished cry from the depths of the human heart? He not only hears, He helps. He hears the faint bleating of one lost lamb of the flock, and goes out into the night to search until He finds. It is His mercy in coming, not His wrath at having to come that touches the heart of the sinner and induces penitence and awesome fear (not terror): "There is forgiveness with Thee that Thou mayest be feared."

The man of faith is sure that God will listen to his confession and accept his penitence, and forgive his sin, and redeem his life. So he waits for the mercy of the Lord not fretfully, but confidently. He waits with more confidence than the nightwatchman waiting for the first sign of light in the eastern sky—the light that has never failed: "more than watchman for the morning."

The penitent hopes not "against hope" as though there were only an outside chance of forgiveness; he hopes rather in the Lord, love is steadfast, whose redemption is plenteous.

Is is not precisely because God does see into the depths where sorrow for sin and love for Him are mingled in a common desire for victory over the world the flesh and the devil that His love is ready to forgive and to redeem? The Psalmist is certain, and we should be also, that ". . . He will redeem Israel from all his iniquities."

DOES THIS ANSWER YOUR QUESTION?

What Is Barium Springs?

Seventy-five to one hundred years ago, Barium Springs was a health resort where people came for rest and a drink of barium water to restore their physical vigor. Today, Barium Springs no longer features the water from the spring but is rather a service of healing for boys and girls under the care of the Presbyterian Church. The place is home to hundreds of boys and girls every year. This means food, shelter, clothing, dental work, medical care, school, work, and play, and worship for all who live here. It means security where there was none; partnership, where there are still those who can share in the life of the child. Established in 1891, the Home has served thousands of boys and girls.

Who Owns the Home at Barium Springs?

The Presbyterian Church in the Synod of North Carolina owns and controls all properties and assets of the Home.

How Is The Home Governed?

The Synod of North Carolina elects men and women from every presbytery to membership on the Board of Regents. The Regents meet twice annually on the campus to receive and act upon the full reports of the work of the Home and to project the policies of procedure which are in keeping with good standards of child care. The superintendent, chosen by the Regents and responsible to them, is charged with the operation of the institution.

How Many Children Can The Home Care For?

In its beginning, the Home had less than twenty-five children. At its maximum enrollment, more than a quarter of a century ago, there were three hundred sixty-five on campus in an unbelievably crowded condition. A good working capacity for the Home is two hundred twenty-five boys and girls.

How Many Children Live In A Cottage?

Ordinarily, twelve to sixteen children live in one building, ranging in age from six to seniors in high school. Boys and girls live in separate cottages, but the cottages often are located near each other so that there are natural and wholesome relationships between boys and girls every day.

How Is A Child Admitted?

Applications are made by the Presbyterian minister in a local community. Then, a casework study is made by the Home to determine if the Home is capable of meeting the needs. The final decision on admission is made subsequent to the investigation.

Does Barium Springs Take Infants?

The needs of very young children cannot be met in large institutional settings. Children who are of preschool age need to be provided for in a natural home setting. Ordinarily, children between the ages of five and fifteen are admitted. If a child older than fifteen needs to come to Barium Springs and the Home can meet his needs, admission is offered, even to a senior in high school.

How Long Does A Child Stay In The Home?

Residence in the Home varies according to the needs of the child. He may be at Barium for one or two years, or it may be necessary for him to stay until he is graduated from high school. An earnest effort is made to keep in close touch with the family and, if the way be clear, to return the child to his own community at the earliest possible date. In the event that this is not possible, he may continue at Barium Springs until he has finished high school.

What Happens After High School Graduation?

The Home considers the graduates to be children of the church and makes provisions for them to receive further education or training or assists in securing employment for those who want work. This is financed through the educational fund which is being supported by the memorial gifts—memorial gifts made in the past and those continuing to be made through the memorial fund.

Do the Children Ever Leave the Home To Visit with Families In the Church?

It is most desirable that the boys and girls have opportunity to return to their own home community and to spend their vacation time with their parents if this be possible or with some relative in the community. In the event that there is no place for the child to spend the summer vacation, invitations are accepted for these children to visit in church homes. The children remain on the campus at Christmas time, and gifts for Christmas are provided by individuals, circles, Sunday schools, and churches.

Can A Child of the Home Be Adopted?

The parent or local guardian is the only one who can make a child eligible for adoption by giving his consent. When a child in the Home is eligible for adoptive placement, the casework department, through the Children's Home Society, makes the placement. It is the policy to try to secure adoptive homes for every child eligible to be placed.

What Vocations Have The Students of Barium Springs Chosen?

As is true generally, many of the high school boys and girls have married after graduation and have begun their own homes. A successful and happy home is the highest end which can be reached by any child or children whether they have grown up at Barium Springs or elsewhere. Barium graduates are found in the ranks of nearly all the professions. The roster shows that men and women are ministers, directors of Christian education, teachers, psychiatrists, dentists, coaches, carpenters, plumbers, linotype operators, printers, postmasters, church business managers, lawyers, bank presidents, morticians, nurses, x-ray technicians, beauticians, army officers, mechanics, salesmen, automobile area managers, and others. Of course, every child that comes to the Home does not reach full satisfaction for himself nor the ideals of the Home. This is, also, quite true in the natural family. However, those who have graduated from the high school after their stay in the Home have been good citizens of the state and of the Kingdom.

How Is The Home Supported?

Primarily, the Home is supported by the regular benevolence giving of the people through the churches and the special Thanksgiving offering. These gifts provide for the operational needs.

Are The Books Audited?

A professional firm has an annual audit of the accounts of the Home and makes its report to the Board of Regents. Copies of this audit are regularly placed on file in the Synod's office.

How Much Do You Have To Pay To Get A Child In?

No child is ever accepted or rejected on the basis of money. Presbyterians of the Synod of North Carolina, through their contributions, support the Home. However, each parent or responsible relative who can make any contribution to the Home for the child is required to do so according to his ability.

Do The Children Help Support Themselves?

Every child in the Home has a job equal to his age and ability. The cottages have to be kept clean and even the youngest has his part to do. The girls serve in the dining room, help prepare meals, work in the laundry, in the sewing room, in the infirmary, and in the office. The boys are assigned to the dairy, to the forty acre orchard, to the five hundred acre farm, to the maintenance of the thirty-five acre campus, to the shop crew for painting and repairing buildings, and to the gardens for the production of vegetables for the table and storage.

What About Buildings?

All buildings on the campus and major physical improvements have been made from the capital fund. Money in this fund is derived from special gifts and legacies.

Is There A School On The Campus?

The primary school, grades one through four, at present is on the campus. Grades five through twelve have been moved to the consolidated school at Troutman. School buses transport the children to and from school.

What Religious Instruction Is Given?

Children of the Home are required to attend the regular services of Little Joe's Presbyterian Church each Sunday. This includes the church school, the morning worship, and the youth group meetings in the evening. A prayer service is held in the church every Wednesday evening. Boys and girls sing in the choir and the boys serve as ushers in the congregation. Also, a special program of Christian nurture is designed for each cottage where the group lives in family style.

How Many People On The Staff?

There is a great variety of activity on the campus that requires fifty to sixty adults. Included in the staff are dietitians, nurses, hostesses, housemothers, supervisors, purchasing agent, bookkeepers, typists, caseworkers, firemen, farmers, dairymen, orchard men, carpenters, plumbers, preachers, teachers, and a superintendent.

What About Institutional Work and Its Place In The Total Picture of Child Care?

It is commonly agreed that there is a threefold function in child care. Children are provided for through adoptions, through foster homes, and institutional care. The church is not alone in serving boys and girls. The federal and state governments, following in the footsteps of the church, have turned to the care of children through its departments of public welfare. There are today more children receiving care than ever in the history of the country. However, all the agencies working together have not yet met the needs of children and there are hundreds who need what these agencies have to offer. In North Carolina, there is fine cooperative effort on the part of the denominational, fraternal and state agencies in rendering services to the children of this state.

How Can I Remember Barium Springs By Will?

The spirit of God has moved upon the hearts of many people to provide for boys and girls in their will. Without these gifts of love the Home could not have existed. The full name to be used in the will is "Regents of the Orphans' Home of the Presbyterian Church of North Carolina at Barium Springs."

What Is The Greatest Need?

The Home needs divine guidance wrought out through prayer. Presbyterians and those who love Barium Springs should pray for this place, the boys and girls, and the adult leadership. Effective service cannot be rendered to the children unless the total church remembers this work in prayer. Dealing with the immortal spirits of the boys and girls is a most important part of the work. When men and women unite their hearts in prayer for divine guidance, surely His blessing will rest upon the work with His children at Barium Springs.

INFIRMARY

Hello,

This is the Infirmary again. Not too much has happened except for several people catching the flu and several people having colds, which is to be expected for this kind of weather.

We are sorry that basketball is over with except for the tournament this year. We are proud of our girls and boys teams.

On January 29, 1961, we observed Assembly Youth Sunday in our church. Some of the Senior High members led the morning worship; both of the Infirmary girls took part in this.

We are all looking forward to spring and Easter and hope it will bring an end to the flu, colds and other winter ailments.

Well, this is the Infirmary girls signing off for this month.

Southeastern Child Care Association To Meet

The month of April will bring the annual meeting of the Southeastern Child Care Association. This is the new name for the old Tri State Conference which was later called the Southeastern Conference for Workers in Childrens Homes and now bears the new name. Executives, Caseworkers, Houseparents and other Staff Members will convene in Winston-Salem during April. There, under the leadership of professionally trained people, problems pertaining to the work of caring for children will be discussed. Reports will be made from the Child Care Projects sponsored jointly by the Southeastern Child Care Association and the University of North Carolina, and officers for the coming year will be elected.

Special Services Observed By The Church

Special Services in preparation for Easter Sunday were observed in Little Joe's Presbyterian Church, beginning with the Cantata, "On To Calvary" presented by the Chancel Choir on the last Sunday in March. Each night thereafter found the worshippers coming together for a service in the church. The Reverend Hugh B. Carter, Jr., pastor of the church, arranged for a worship service on Monday evening, preaching on Tuesday evening, and a religious film on Wednesday evening, with the members of the congregation joined in a Communion Service on Thursday. On Friday, a special three hour service was planned. Beginning at twelve o'clock and continuing until three, the crucifixion story was retold. People came and went as they saw fit throughout the three hour service.

The Sunrise Service on Easter Sunday morning had been arranged for by the Senior High Fellowship with the Reverend Eugene Daniel Witherspoon, Jr., pastor of the Forest Park Presbyterian Church in Statesville, the special speaker. This service was held on the east lawn of the church with the early worshippers present for the service and a chance to visit the cemetery where rests the body of little Joe and others who have been laid to rest near the Sanctuary.

with 3:21 left in the fourth period. Bill Scoggins led West Rowan back to 41-40 with 2:32 left. McAbee's two foul shots as Ed Graham fouled out and two more when McNeely committed his fourth foul gave Troutman a 45-42, with McNeely hitting to cut it back to 45-44 with 1:20 remaining.

McNeely tied up McAbee for a jump ball with 47 seconds left and West controlled the tap. Scoggins' goal with 38 seconds remaining gave West a 46-45 lead.

With 33 seconds left, Troutman took time out. Working for one shot, Danny Loftin shot and missed with seven seconds showing and Jim McAbee rebounded, shooting and missing on the buzzer as West staved off the Bobcats' bid.
